

Welcome to Keats House

I'm Mr Ward and it is with great pleasure that I (re)introduce myself as Head of Keats House. Our house is named after the English poet, John Keats and I am committed to fostering a house environment that embodies the spirit and values exemplified by Keats himself.

At Keats House, we strive to cultivate a community where creativity, curiosity, and compassion thrive. John Keats, known for his poetic brilliance and sensitivity to the human experience, inspires us to embrace the beauty of individual expression. We believe in nurturing not just academic excellence but also in developing well-rounded individuals who appreciate the arts, literature, and the world around them.

Our house values are rooted in fostering a sense of community, respect, and resilience and aim to provide an experience that goes beyond the classroom, offering a holistic education that extends into the realms of creativity, leadership, and personal development.

Through a variety of extracurricular activities and collaborative projects, we seek to empower our students to discover and hone their talents, ultimately preparing them for the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead
