

Graham Rounce statement

I am a solicitor focussing on property law. My current role is a professional support lawyer. My responsibilities include business development, training and helping to manage junior lawyers. I oversee the team's pro bono work. My legal background enables me to help identify issues, assess the risk and determine the best solution. I can help consider points from all perspectives and help determine the best way forward for all parties.